getopt

Project licensing notices:

There has been so much interest in the public-domain getopt that I have decided to post it to net.cog-eng as well as net.sources. It's not large (under 7KB) and there are various interested places that don't get net.sources. This is it.

I've included sources for both getopt(3) and getopt(1). The latter is a program that provides similar facilities to shell programs; it's less successful than getopt(3) but still useful. Please note the last item in the BUGS section of getopt(1) carefully.

None of this software is derived from Bell software. I had no access to the source for Bell's versions at the time I wrote it. This software is hereby explicitly placed in the public domain. It may be used for any purpose on any machine by anyone.
